

What Do You REALLY Want For Your Kids?

"If a child is to keep his inborn sense of wonder, he needs the companionship of at least one adult who can share it, rediscovering with him the joy, excitement and mystery of the world we live in" -Rachel Carson

•What is this?

Do you hope your child always knows that their life is full of infinite possibilities? Do you wish you could provide an interactive environment where your child's imagination is not only encouraged but honored?

This unique workshop was created with those exact aspirations in mind. It's full of fun activities and unique perspectives that will allow your child to develop a stronger relationship with their sense of self and their natural intuition. It will allow your child to be a kid. They will gain validation of their strengths and learn tools to help change areas in their life that are troublesome. The goal is to provide your child with the tools and awareness needed to walk away feeling confident about themselves and their role in the world. It will also give you awareness, support and courage to let your child be who they are.

•Is this Class right for your child?

- Does your child have anxiety about bedtime or going to school?
- Does your child have difficulty with discipline and authority?
- Does your child refuse to do certain things they are told to do?
- Is waiting in lines torture for your child?
- Does your child see better ways of doing things at home and at school?
- Does your child get bored rather easily with assigned tasks?
- Is your child particularly creative and displays intuition?
- Does your child have strong empathy for others, often taking on others' pain?
- Is your child very talented (may be identified as gifted) and seems to be a daydreamer?
